IN MEMORY OF CAROLINE AGNES FORDYCE

At her home on Locust street, Clarksburg W. Va., September 22, 1911, the sweet spirit of Caroline Agnes Fordyce entered into eternal rest. She was the only daughter of the late John H. Fordyce, and is survived by her mother, Mrs. Julia A., and one brother, Fred Fordyce. She lived her entire life in Clarksburg, where she was well known and highly esteemed.

She received her education in the convent of the "Sacred Heart," Clarksburg, and in the Normal School, Shepherdstown, W. Va., where, in addition to the regular course, she studied music and French, it having been her original intention to follow teaching as a profession, for which she was well fitted; but circumstances interfering she decided upon a business career.

In the early days of her girlhood she entered upon her life work, foregoing many pleasures so dear to a young girl's heart. To her work she brought the best that was in her and by her efficiency, diligence and faithfulness, won the confidence and esteem of her employers, as well as of her co-workers.

For four years she held a responsible position in the postoffice at Clarksburg, and for the last thirteen years had been identified with the Traders National Bank, now known as the Union National Bank, where her services were highly valued, as attested to during her illness, of which she often spoke with feelings of deepest gratitude.

About two years ago she had a very bad attack of "grip," from which she seemed to have entirely recovered. During the past winter, however, another attack left her in such a serious condition, that it was decided to bring her to New York, where several of the finest specialists in the city, pronounced her trouble a general breakdown from overwork, with the lungs seriously involved. Upon their advice she entered a sanitarium in the hope that her life might be saved.

Bravely, patiently and without complain, she made the fight for her life, for she was still young and life was sweet. Everything known to science was brought to bear on her case, but it was too late.

Despite the helplessness of her case and her almost constant suffering, many were the acts of kindness that radiated from her sick room in the sanitarium.

Flowers, fruit or other delicacies, perhaps an interesting book that had given her pleasure, were unselfishly shared with others to whom her kind heart went out in sympathy, although she had never known them, but like ships passing in the night, she gave a friendly signal, which cheered others in distress and endeared her to them.

Of an unusually sunny nature, she was an enjoyable companion at all times. Many in Clarksburg will miss the cheery smile and kindly greeting as she went to and from her work, day by day, for so many years.

To the sweetness and simplicity of a little child was added a quiet dignity, which always commanded respect, and her warm and sympathetic heart endeared her to all with whom she came in contact.

Although having lived out not more than half her allotted days her work was done, her house in order, swept and garnished, when the angel crossed the threshold and lovingly said, "It is enough my child, come up higher."

The burden has fallen from the tired shoulders, and in company with the spirits of loved ones gone before, she basks in celestial sunshine, while those of us who loved her devotedly, the light has gone out, and groping in darkness we have left to us only the memory of her sweetness and goodness, her life of love and self-sacrifice for and devotion to those she loved.

"We cannot say, and we will not say. That she is dead. She is just away! With a cheery smile and a move of the hand,

She has wandered into an unknown land,

And left us dreaming how very fair it needs must be since she lingers there.

And we, Oh we, who widely yearn for the old time step, and the glad return,

Let us think of her faring on, as dear

In the love of there as the love of here.

Let us think of her still as the same, I say,

She is not dead. She is just away."

To Be Sure of Getting Genuine Sealshipt Oysters Look for this Sealshipticase

Like every good thing, Sealshipt Oysters are imitated. But the imitators fall far short of the original.

We are registered Agents for genuine Sealshipt Oysters in Clarksburg. If you buy from us, you are sure of getting oysters just as they come from the sea.

Oysters served you right at the shore could not be fresher or more delicious than the genuine Sealshipt Oysters we have.

We get Sealshipt Oysters direct from the oyster beds. The same day as they are dredged they are packed in clean, air-tight steel containers and sealed. In this way we seal the flavor as well as the oysters.

These air-tight containers are packed in a patented package the Sealshiptor, with the ice around the containers. This keeps the oysters at a uniform degree of coldness in transit.

SEALSHIPT OYSTERS

RICHEST IN FOOD VALUE

Sealshipt Oysters give you all the delicious qualities and splendid nourishment of Nature's choicest sea food. There is nothing more satisfying or more appetizing. They are also economical, because a pint is enough for an ordinary family.

How to be Sure of Getting Genuine Sealshipt Oysters

The only way to be sure of getting Sealshipt Oysters—the only bulk oysters with a name—is to get them from the handsome porcelain enamelled refrigerator like the one shown here; like the one we have in our store. Call and see how we handle Sealshipt oysters. While here, ask for a copy of our free booklet, "Mark Twain's Oyster Story," which gives many shore recipes unknown inland.

Will have these Oysters on sale Friday morning, September 29, and the balance of the Oyster season.
